

Change the Appearance of Windows XP.

You can make your window title bars (the area on a window that has the min, max, & close buttons on it) different colors.

Also change other Appearance settings.

Right Click the Desktop and Choose, Properties.

Choose the [Appearance] tab.

Click the [Advanced] button .

In the Advanced Appearance dialog there is a drop down menu with many settings to choose from.

The [Active Title Bar] once selected gives you the option to increase the size and the colours. The default dark blue – blend with light blue.

The colour of the text and size can be changed.

Other options of interest are...

- Caption Buttons
- Inactive Title bar (colours).
- Scrollbar size.

Tip: Write down the default settings before making any changes.
