

Become disaster resilient

“Excellent for mapping the vulnerability of resources underpinning critical activities and reporting the status of mitigation initiatives which address the high risks - before and after disaster impact.”

Goals which Butress® addresses:

- Identify those activities which have to be performed in order to deliver the key products which enable the client to meet its most important and time-sensitive objectives.
- For each activity identified, map the resources needed to ensure business continuity. Resources include assets, people, skills, information (electronic and non electronic) technology (including plant and equipment), premises, supplies and suppliers.
- For each resource needed to ensure business continuity, profile that resource's criticality level; vulnerability level; risk level; contingency plan(s) status; and resilience initiative(s) status.
